BOLD

Robbery of Chicago Postoffice.

Mistake Made

By the Thieves Who Missed Cash Box.

Had They Found it They Would Have Secured a Quarter Million.

As it was They Only Got Away With About Eighty Thousand Dollars in Stamps Without Being Detected.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.
Chicago, Oct. 21.—A bold and successful robbery was accomplished last night when one of the three great vaults in the temporary post office here was blown open and over $76,000 in stamps stolen. Several employees are under surveillance and arrest will be made later.

The east end of the post office rests on piles the space around them being vaulted up. Through the place is closely guarded, the robbers must have been at work at three days, for they succeeded in making a hole 2x3 feet into the vault. In one steel plate above they had drilled 37 holes. Their booty was taken out and loaded into wagons and then carried away. The theft was not discovered till long after eight this morning. Authorities believe the cash value was the object of the robbers but they made a mistake. If they had got into the cash they would have secured between two hundred and three hundred thousand dollars.

Of the amount of stamps secured by the robbers only $69,888 can be realized as the balance is in postage stamps.

Post Master Coyne is responsible under bond for the amount of the robbery but it is probable that congress will reimburse him. It is the largest stamp robbery on record.

Yale Anniversary Celebration.
New Haven, Oct. 21.—Yale university is celebrating the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Yale college. The bicentennial of the great institution of learning was ushered in with ceremonies essentially religious. The city, proud in its function as a seat of learning, had bedecked itself in Yale's colors, and presented a splendid spectacle. Blue draperies were interwoven with new-cut evergreen, and this general scheme of color was broken only by the graceful folds of the stars and stripes. From the simple school of 1701 Yale found herself a great university, developed through the years from a one-building institution down through her "brick row" to a campus, thence to a second campus and now to a third, and stretching out in her departmental building to territory as great again.

Lake Steamer Aground.
Detroit, Oct. 21.—The passenger steamer City of Cleveland of the Detroit and Cleveland line ran on a rock during a heavy fog, just east of Bald's reef, and stove a large hole in her bottom amidships. The water rushed in with great force and the steamer gradually filled until she rested on bottom, with, however, her main deck still above water. The shock was so slight that none of the passengers, who were asleep in their berths, was awakened, and there was no alarm. Many of them did not know of the accident until they were aroused to get aboard the steamer Newsboy and proceed to Detroit, where they were landed.

The Centennial's passengers report that at St. Michael winter had practically set in and that the streets were frozen and snow had commenced to fall. Skagway and vicinity have been visited by disastrous rainstorms, according to passengers arriving on the City of Seattle, causing much loss of property. On the afternoon of Oct. 13 a torrent of water rushed down the valley, carrying destruction in its wake. Three bridges were wrecked, the roadbed of the White Pass and Yukon railroad was washed away in places and buildings on the water front between Broadway and the bluff were inundated.

I shall remain over here until New Year's and of course shall go to Washington and confer with the president and Secretary Hay. I shall not go to Washington for a few days."

Admiral Bowles' Report.
Washington, Oct. 21.—The annual report of Admiral Bowles, chief of the bureau of construction and repair, calls attention to the slow progress in the construction of the ships now building for the navy made during the past year, owing to strikes and delays in the delivery of armor and steel forgings. He points out that under the present system for the purchase of armor the responsibility for delays emanating from this source rests with the government and renders it liable to suits for damages by the ship constructors. The construction bureau, he says, has made considerable progress toward the standardizing of ship fittings, which he says will reduce the original cost of ships to the navy and decrease expense of maintenance.

Youtsey asked him for a key, but he told him he did not want him in his office. Powers said he fled from Frankfort because he felt satisfied that he could not get a fair trial.

AN INTERNAL REMEDY.
A pleasant Tasting Tablet; Simple, Convenient; Cures Every Form of Catarrh.
The use of inhalers, douches, sprays, salves, and powders for catarrh is a nuisance and inconvenience, at the best, and cannot compare with anti-septic remedies in tablet form for internal use.

Internal remedies are the only ones which can really reach the seat of the disease which is in the blood and local applications can no more cure catarrh than rheumatism of kidney trouble, the excessive secretion in nose and throat being local manifestations of a deep seated poison in the blood. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, the most successful of the various remedies, is composed principally of highly concentrated antiseptics, which destroy the catarrh germs in the blood and causes them to be eliminated through the natural channels. Progressive physicians use and advise Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because they contain in no cocaine, no opiate, no anesthetic drug whatever, but are composed of Guaiacum, Hydrastin, Red Gum and similar catarrh antiseptics, and are so safe and pleasant that even children may use them with excellent results.

Catarrh sufferers who have wasted time and money on local applications, should not despair of a radical cure until a trial of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets has been made.

A complete treatment may be purchased at any drug store for fifty cents.

HIGH
Officials are Coming
This Way.
A Cleaning Up
To Prepare for the Fall
Inspection.
Will Not Spend Much Time in the Cities Along the Line.

Fall Business Now Encourages the
Railroads to Go After Tourists
Seeking Recreation in the Southern States.

A Pittsburg paper says that President A. J. Cassatt and other high officials of the Pennsylvania will make an inspection trip over the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, leaving the latter place Monday night. Notice of the coming of the party has not been received here, but they are expected to pass through the city tomorrow. The Pittsburg Post says the president will be met by the general superintendents, superintendent of motive power, division superintendents, civil engineers and other officers at the starting point of each division. The track inspection of the lines west of Pittsburg by General Manager G. L. Peck and General Superintendent Charles Watts and the division and maintenance of way officials, which was postponed from the 15th, will commence on the 28th inst. The party will pass through this city tomorrow, stopping only a few minutes.

After the Tourists.
Railroads running to the south are now that winter is coming on, bending their energies towards a further development of the southland by inviting tourists travel to that section of the country. There are many industrial opportunities open in the south and all that is necessary is to interest the people of the north in them to develop that country. Within the next month it is expected the roads running to the south will announce special train service for the winter season, and several meetings between passenger traffic men have been held, but as yet the results have not been given out. Division Passenger Agent J. A. Williamson, of the C. H. & D., states that he has as yet had no advice as to what his road will do this winter. Last winter the C. H. & D. had a special car out of this city every afternoon for St. Augustine, Fla., and the service was very popular.—Toledo Times

Detroit Southern Shops.
Napoleon, O., Oct. 13.—(Special)—The Detroit Southern railway is pushing work on a terminal yard and car shops, which are being erected at this point. The railroad intends to make Napoleon the terminal point of its southern division, which position will be transferred from Columbus. The carshops and yards will comprise about twenty-eight acres in extent, the ground being situated directly by the railroad on the outskirts of the city. The ground has already been broken and the foundation for the buildings is well under way. About fifty men are employed on the grounds although it is not expected that the work will be completed for some time. The general office of the southern division of the railroad has been moved from Tecumseh here and Mr. Sullivan, the general roadmaster, is superintending the erection of the shops. It is thought that in the neighborhood of 100 men will be employed in the shops when they are completed.

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia.
It makes life miserable.
Its sufferers eat not because they want to—but simply because they must.

They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, a feeling of puffy fullness, headache, heartburn and what not.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cured Joseph P. Lamb, Panagran, Ky., who writes: "I was troubled with dyspepsia for a number of years and took medicine that did me no good. I was advised by friends to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did and it put my bowels in perfect condition, gave me strength and energy and made me feel like a new person."

General Notes.

The Clover Leaf will build a new passenger station and freight house at Bluffton, Indiana. The Lake Erie and Western is being urged to a similar step by the good citizens of that city.

So enormous is the fall shipping out of Pittsburg that the railroads, without exception, are unable to handle the freight offered them. Railroad yards, stock yards and sidings are congested, and it is stated that the situation is so acute now that if all freight offerings stopped at once the railroads would not be able to clear the tracks in less than a week.

"A HELPING HAND"

Is Gladly Extended by a Lima Citizen.

There are many enthusiastic citizens in Lima prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence and will prove a "helping hand" to scores of readers. Read the following statement:

Mrs. M. M. Myers, of 718 West Elm street, says: "There was a constant dull aching pain through my back, I could not rest in any position, either sitting, lying or standing and at times was so lame and sore all over that I could hardly get up or down. The secretions from the kidneys were highly colored and deposited a heavy sediment. I suffered terribly from sick headaches and felt at times as though I could not get better. I was advised by friends to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and acting on their advice, I procured a supply at Melville's drug store, and soon noticed a decided improvement. After completing a course, I was entirely cured and there has been no return of the trouble since."

A NEW ERA IN DRESS

Octave Uzanne Predicts Reform
in Feminine Costumes.

THE VIEWS OF A PARIS ORIGIN.

Short Skirts, It is Declared, Will Shortly Be the Vogue—Corsets to Be Abandoned and the Wearing of Vests Prohibited by Health Department.

According to Octave Uzanne, the well known critic of Parisian life and manners, the French capital is destined ere long to lose its renown in the matter of feminine dress, since the Frenchwoman's costume is rapidly approaching the convenience and hygienic character of masculine attire, says the Paris correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald. M. Uzanne, who has made a close study of the gradual evolution of French modes, declares in an article that has just appeared in the Revue Contemporaine that before ten years have elapsed rigidly short skirts will become the fashion on all occasions, while corsets will ere long be abandoned and the custom of wearing veils prohibited by the health department.

Frenchwomen's clubs indignantly try to refute the conclusions of the critic, who, speaking to The Record-Herald correspondent, further developed his convictions as follows:

"It has been practically proved that many women's diseases originate from the custom of wearing long skirts that sweep the dust and collect malarious germs, insuring their later lodgment in the body."

"The evils resulting from corsets are too familiar to need emphasizing. The modern corset is a tyrant imposed by bad taste and causing terrible disorders. Its fatal operations are therefore bound to give place to the beneficial aid of simple physiological belts that will conform to the respiratory movements, permit of bodily development and allow the normal action of the gastro-intestinal functions."

"The health boards are going to forbid absolutely the use of veils that destroy or harm the sight, interfere with proper breathing and offer haven to noxious bacilli."

"Many signs show that these reforms are already in the air. Paris courtesies report that Frenchwomen demand more and more every day 'hygienic outfits.' It is principally foreign customers from England and the United States who still demand clothes made in the old, unhealthy fashion."

Parallel to his study of the development of costume M. Uzanne is investigating the reports of the French boards of health, which, he declares, are prepared to urge and if necessary insist on the modification of female dress for the sake of the coming generation.

"Heretofore," he continued, "the matter of dress reform has been left to the initiative of women, but so little has been accomplished that the day would have been long distant when laws would be made on the subject. Now it is safe to say that not later than 1920 Frenchwomen and therefore the women of the whole world will forsake the dress abuses which are tending to ruin the race of mankind."

BROKE INTO JAIL.

Burglars Mistook Town Prison For Business Place.

Among the prisoners confined in the Wayland (N. Y.) jail are two unlucky burglars who, not content with awaiting their time, broke into the building, were captured and will be confined there for the next four months.

The men, giving their names as Hank Rogers of Boston and George Butler of New York, armed with a complete kit of burglars' tools, dropped off a freight train and about midnight cautiously approached the jail, which outwardly has the appearance of being a prosperous business house. With the aid of a jimmy a rear window was forced open, and the two men entered the sleeping quarters of the constable, Frank D. Fursell, and his son. Owing to the crowded condition of the jail and a threatened outbreak among the prisoners both the constable and his son were armed. As the foremost burglar turned up the light he found himself and his partner covered by Fursell's revolver.

Both men readily obeyed the command to put up their hands, and now Butler and Rogers are being laughed at by the entire village.

Origin of Royal Purple.

There will be plenty of Tyrian purple at the coronation of King Edward, as all the crowned heads will wear it. The dye comes from a small fish, and only a single drop of it is obtained from each animal. In the reign of Augustus a pound of wool subjected to the dyeing process sold for about $150 in our money. A Mr. Cole of Bristol, England, heard from two ladies residing at Minehead that a man living on the coast of Ireland made his living by marking in a brilliant purple the fine linen which ladies and gentlemen of the court sent to him for the purpose, the dye being a substance taken from a shellfish. He went immediately to the place, obtained some of the fish from the seaman and after many unsuccessful attempts finally succeeded in reproducing the imperial purple. The fluid was extracted from a white vein lying in a little furrow near the head of the fish, the vein being laid open with a needle. The stain given by this animal fluid is said to be indelible, bidding defiance to every chemical process for removing stains. Ordinary purple is obtained from vegetable and mineral sources.

VANDERBILT'S PATENTS.

Three Are Granted in Washington to Young Cornelius.

The name of Cornelius Vanderbilt appears three times in the list of patents just issued by the department in Washington.

One of the inventions is intended to despoil the great brake beam trust of its power by which it clutches all of the railroads of the country. Cornelius Vanderbilt has worked out a brake beam which, he asserts in his statement of facts accompanying his papers, is a cheaper and stronger brake beam than any of the brake beams marketed by the trust.

One of the patents secured by the young inventor is for a railway car. Another is for the machinery by which truck holsters and brake beams are made, and a third is for the new brake beam and truck bolster.

If Mr. Vanderbilt's device proves to be what he declares it to be, he will be able to deliver the railroads from a tyranny they would gladly be rid of. His patent is aimed directly at the great combine.

The issuing of the patents marks the return of Mr. Vanderbilt from the summer festivities at Newport to the hard realities of the busy life he has chosen despite his millions. Early in this year he invented a coal saving, power economizing firebox and boiler for locomotives, which was soon adopted for use by the Union Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio railroads. He lectured before the American Society of Mechanical Engineers on his firebox and boiler and received the most respectful consideration.

Young Cornelius Vanderbilt is also making himself known in other walks of life that do not parallel that of the primrose path of social dalliance. He is a politician and represents his assembly district at all the conventions and gatherings.

CROSSING THE DEAD LINE.

Gunners in the Navy to Receive Commissions.

Two enlisted men of the navy, says a Washington dispatch, are about to cross the line between the forecabin and quarter deck without having been qualified to be line officers at the Naval academy. The last congress authorized the examination of applicants for examination, and determined that as many as six enlisted men might, upon proving their full qualification for the rank of ensign, be appointed each year by the president.

This did not meet with unanimous favor in the navy, Rear Admiral Sampson being made to appear adverse to the introduction of enlisted men into the line without subjecting them to the preparation given to academy cadets. He refused to recommend a gunner named Morgan for reasons set forth at the time in a letter to the department.

Morgan was ineligible, however, because he had passed the age limit at which officers can be taken in. Gunner Francis Martin has been under examination for twelve days at the navy yard before a board consisting of such officers of experience as Rear Admiral John G. Walker, retired; Rear Admiral Watson, and Captain T. F. Jewell.

The character of the examination is about as severe, it is stated, as that to which a cadet at Annapolis is subjected prior to his graduation, and the degree of satisfaction enjoyed by the examining board can be assumed from the fact that when they had completed their examination they extended their hearty congratulations to Gunner Martin for the manner in which he had responded to their severe catechizing.

The appointment of Martin will encourage other enlisted men to strive to overcome a hitherto impassable barrier in the navy. The papers for a gunner named Soule, who has been before a board at San Francisco, have also been received with recommendation that he be commissioned.

Queen Marguerite's Tragic Sonnets.

Queen Marguerite of Italy has had a small box made to hold the silk vest worn by King Humbert when he was assassinated and which was pierced by the bullet and stained with blood. The box is of ebony and in the style of the fifteenth century, inlaid and decorated with silver ornaments and jewels. In front is the royal monogram with the royal arms, "Umberto Rex." The date of the crime is in lilies figures. The inside of the box is lined with white velvet on which is conspicuously embroidered the royal monogram in letters of gold.

MEASURING STARLIGHT.

An Important Part of Astronomy in Which America Excels.

An important and interesting department of astronomy is the measurement and recording of the comparative magnitude of the stars. In this reckoning of magnitude, which is known as photometry—that is, the measurement of starlight—it is interesting to note that an American astronomical establishment stands among the first in the world, photometry having been for years one of the principal subjects taken up by the Harvard observatory both in Cambridge and at Arequipa, Peru, and the results of the work which it has accomplished having been accepted as standard all over the world.

The first star catalogue, giving 1,050 stars, was compiled by Hipparchus in the year 125 B. C. It has come down to us through Ptolemy of Alexandria, who nearly 800 years later, in 140 A. D., produced his "Megale Syntaxis," the "Almagest," or "Great Book," of the famous Arabian and Moorish astronomers, which in one form or another was the world's standard for nearly thirteen centuries. The famous catalogue of Tycho Brahe, the last of the medieval or the first of the modern astronomers, in 1590 was the last important catalogue produced without the aid of the telescope.

It is significant of the accomplishment of American astronomy that, in spite of the great amount of modern photometric work, there was no universally accepted system of photometry until the publication of what is now known as the Harvard photometry, the "H. P." as it is familiarly called by astronomers. This is contained in volume 34 of the annals of the Harvard observatory, a massive volume giving a list of 4,500 stars in the northern sky visible to the naked eye in the latitude of Cambridge and intended to include all stars not fainter than the sixth magnitude between the north pole and thirty degrees south of the celestial equator. To this original list another, volume 24 of the annals, has since been added.

This Harvard photometry, as such a catalogue of the "naked eye stars" is called, was so elaborate and so accurately done that it has been practically accepted everywhere and the magnitude of all new stars given on the Harvard scale. A striking illustration of the use to which it is now put occurred last spring when the "new" star appeared in the constellation Perseus. Among the observers who gave their results on the Harvard scale were Nilsen and Gyllensköld of Sweden, Persson of the Portuguese observatory in the Azores, the staffs of the British Astronomical association and the Astronomical society of France and the officers of the Radcliffe observatory at Oxford as well as practically all American astronomers.

Burglars Enter the Fee Home.

They Broke In Through a Window in Rear of House

And Stole Some Money from the Pockets of a Roomer.

The Thief Overlooked Some Valuable Property, Among Which was a Gold Watch.—No Arrests Made.

Saturday night F. Fee's residence on south Central avenue, was entered by some one, who robbed P. J. Ragan, a roomer, of $25, taken from a pair of trousers in his room. The robber entered by forcing a kitchen window. He passed through the sleeping apartments of the Fee's, to Ragan's room. In Mr. Fee's room on a dresser was a gold watch, also some money, overlooked by the thief. It was not known the house was entered until Sunday morning, when Murray Fee missed two coats which lead to an investigation resulting in the discovery of the theft. Mr. Ragan's empty purse was found Sunday morning on south Central avenue, a short distance from Fee's. No clue.

Sunday noon at his office, Esquire Kelly officiated at the marriage of Miss Marian Blume, daughter of D. L. Blume on south Central avenue, to Albert Scotts residing on St. Johns avenue. After the wedding ceremony the couple proceeded to the bride's home where observances of the occasion were enjoyed. Both have many friends wishing them all possible happiness. They have gone to home keeping on south Central avenue.

Sunday noon several police officers called a crowd of vagrants congregated along the Erie railroad near Hoover's park. The police detail called out as the tramps were disposing of an unending midday repast. The officers allowed them to finish after which they were all taken over. There were about fifteen of them. This morning officer Miller who discovered yesterday's crowd completed the policing by removing three tramps against whom complaints were made by citizens on Greenlawn avenue. The officer had trouble with one of the fellows he conducted to the station. South Lima is now free from an invasion that was deplored. For several days the vagrants were obnoxious because of their congregating to become intoxicated. Deputies in the vicinity of the railways were greatly annoyed.

Last night at the south Lima Baptist church Rev. W. H. Gallant delivered a special address to the Modern Woodmen, who attended in a body. The Royal Neighbors were also present. The reverend elucidated eloquently. His peroration was appreciated. Special music contributed to the occasions solemnity.

At the south Lima Christian church yesterday morning Rev. G. H. Sims, just returned from the national convention of the denomination at Minneapolis, Minn., spoke upon "Lessons from a Great Convention." His report of the meeting was interesting as well as instructive. Mr. Sims was prominently identified with the working of the assemblage. He was commended upon a meritorious sermon delivered during the great meeting.

Miss Keturah Smith, who leaves this week to become an instructor in the deaconess training school at Northfield, Mass., delivered a farewell address at the south Main street Presbyterian church Sunday morning. She spoke feelingly of her associations in the brief time allotted her in Lima. Expressing the hope that the work so auspiciously inaugurated might be Wednesday evening a reception will be tendered by Grace church congregation to the new pastor, Rev. W. E. Hagerman.

This evening at Prentiss Lawrence's on Greenlawn avenue, Boys Guild, of Grace church will hold a literary meeting. An interesting program will be rendered.

Friday night Morris Welch, on Albert street, was awakened by some one walking in his room. He attempted to capture the marauder but was unsuccessful. It is thought the man is one of a gang that has operated in this vicinity recently.

Yesterday C. M. Wood Jr., G. W. Wood, and Charles Mowrey with their families drove to C. M. Wood's at Columbus Grave, surprising him upon his birthday anniversary.

With pleasure the many anxious friends of C. S. Peltier will be pleased to learn that he is slowly improving. His sick room presents a beautiful scene of flowers, being tokens of esteem by railroad men and others; the bouquet composed of chrysanthemums and roses is most exquisitely beautiful, and was presented by the Young Men's Guild, of Grace M. E. church.

Miss Susie Shaffer, on south Elizabeth street, was injured by being run down by a milk wagon while riding a bicycle on south Main street Saturday afternoon. The contusion upon her temple was the most serious injury.

R. B. Westlake, of the United States Navy, is the guest of his parents on south West street. He has been in the service six years, during which time he has traveled around the globe. With considerable reluctance he tells of his part in the Boxer uprising in China, also his service in the Philippines.

Working on south Main street Saturday afternoon, L. McBride, an old gentleman was without provocation attacked by a gang of young rowdies who stoned him shamefully. He secured their names. The practice of stone throwing by the young element here is becoming a serious problem.

Ladies, little girls and aged men have recently been the victims of those so ready to inflict injuries that may some time bring the perpetrators into serious complications.

The police were called to a disturbance on south Elizabeth street last night. Matters were adjusted with consequent quietude.

Today Dr. Bowser removed his office into the rooms formerly occupied by Thomas' barber shop. Dr. Bowser's office will be occupied by a restaurant. Thomas has discontinued the barber shop.

The old monks, whose aim it was to save men, soul and body, did a humane thing when they ransomed the vegetable kingdom for a blood purifier. A ROYAL VISITOR.

Grandson of Queen Christina of Spain Visits America.

Prince del Drago, who has just arrived in this country, says the society writer of the New York Journal, has royal blood in his veins, being a grandson of that old Queen Christina of Spain who was prior to her marriage a princess of the sovereign house of Naples. The prince is no stranger here, for he was among the suitors for the hand of Anna Gould, and when the latter gave her heart and her fortune to Count Don de Castellane the prince was in a measure consoled for his disappointment by his success in selling to George Gould a magnificent jeweled crown, which had belonged to Queen Christina and which had been assigned to him as part and parcel of the fortune of his grandmother.

The latter was a most extraordinary woman. Brought up by an English governess of the name of Miss Ward, who had been a circus rider, she knew neither how to read nor write when she married old King Ferdinand of Spain. So great was her ignorance even that she had changed the order of succession in favor of her two daughters by her, eliminating his brother, Don Carlos, from the line and thereby originating those "Carlist wars" which have been the blight of Spain.

After a few years of widowhood and regency she took a fancy to a handsome guardsman of the name of Munoz, raised him from the ranks to be a grandee, a field marshal and a duke of Rianzaraz and faced exile for his sake when, after marrying him, she wished to invest him with the office of minister of war. Prince del Drago's mother is the daughter of Queen Christina by this second husband of hers, and the prince is therefore a nephew of Queen Isabella of Spain. On his father's side he is a Roman patrician, the Del Drago being descended from the Imperial Vicar Rudolph del Dragonibus, who held office in Rome in the twelfth century.

COULDN'T STOP MARRIAGE.

Police of Two Cities Tried It, but Failed.

Miss Marie Tompkins, daughter of Mrs. R. W. Henry of Richmond, Va., and Dr. Frank S. Foster, a graduate of the Maryland University School of Dentistry, were married at Towson, Md., after a series of difficulties. Dr. Foster arrived in Richmond the other day and found Miss Tompkins ready to elope with him. They took the first train to Washington, and from there, as a ruse, the young man sent a telegram to Mr. and Mrs. Henry which read: "We are married and are stopping at the Remont hotel. Hope you will forgive."

This was done evidently to see what the parents would say. Instead of being married, however, the couple were speeding to Baltimore to the home of a friend, Dr. J. G. Smetzer, who secured quarters for them at a boarding house.

Mr. Henry, Miss Tompkins' stepfather, had telegraphed to the authorities at Washington to arrest the couple before they could get married. Superintendent of Police Sylvester, knowing that the Hotel Remont was in Baltimore, telegraphed to Captain Pumphrey, and the latter notified the clerk of the court of common pleas, instructing him not to issue the license as the bride elect was only seventeen years old.

Later Dr. Smetzer called on Clerk Wise to procure the license, and it was refused. Mr. Wise notified Captain Pumphrey, who had the physician come to headquarters and showed him the telegram from Washington. The physician declined to give his own name or tell the whereabouts of the couple.

Detective Miller then traced the couple through Dr. Smetzer, but when they discovered this they hurried to Towson, with the officers in pursuit. Arriving at Towson, Dr. Smetzer made another attempt to secure the license, but failed, the clerk having been notified.

Dr. Smetzer left the courthouse, but returned in a few moments with Miss Tompkins and Dr. Foster. The latter made oath that he was twenty-three years old and that the young woman was eighteen. The license was then issued, and the party went to the parsonage of Trinity Protestant church, where the ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. William H. Powers.

SLAUGHTER AVERTED

By the Vigilance of an American Lieutenant on the Isle of Samar.

PLOT DISCOVERED AND FOILED.

Reinforcements Rushed to Hammer Out the Uprising—Filipino Chief Charges a Breach of Faith. Philippine Delays.

Manilla, Oct. 21.—Owing to the vigilance of Lieutenant Thomas M. Baines, Jr., of the Ninth United States infantry, another slaughter of American troops by insurgents has been averted. He discovered a prisoner entering a cell at Carbiga, island of Samar, where several were confined, through a hole that had been let in the wall. An investigation showed a plan to fill the jail with holmen and to call the guard, which would be necessary to get the door open, and then to attack the garrison. It also developed that the instigators were a priest and the president, both of whom have been arrested, together with several other prominent persons. Other attempts have been discovered, but fortunately frustrated, at Fambujan and other points in Samar. Several persons have been arrested in connection with these.

Reinforcements are being rushed to Samar. Three hundred and thirty marines under Lieutenant Colonel Mancil C. Goodrich have gone there on board the United States cruiser New York, and two battalions of Twelfth infantry will start immediately for the same destination.

United States officers from other provinces that were supposed to be pacified have recently arrived in Manilla, and they say the news of the American disasters spreads like wildfire among the natives, who scarcely attempt to conceal their delight. The Manila constabulary discovered a large quantity of steel wagon springs which were being shipped to various districts. Investigation showed that these were to be used in manufacturing bolos.

The troops in Samar anticipate hard fighting. Brigadier General Jacob H. Smith, who is in command, has visited most of the posts and instructed the commanders that the insurrection must be hammered out, and General Lukban, the insurgent leader, captured. Already the movement of troops has begun.

General LaCuna, who surrendered last May, has complained to General Chaffee that the terms upon which he and his force surrendered have not been respected by the Americans. He exhibits a document signed by himself and General Frederick Funston, in which he and his force are granted immunity in respect of all acts committed contrary to the laws of war. Since this document was executed several of LaCuna's officers and men have been tried, condemned and sentenced to death for killing American prisoners. General Funston says that when it was signed he gave LaCuna orally to understand that the killing of American prisoners was excepted. LaCuna admits that something was said on the subject, but says no thorough understanding was reached, and he considers the written agreement binding.

Gas Exploded.

Marietta, O., Oct. 21.—The entire city was badly shaken by a terrific explosion at the machine shop of Pattin Brothers & Company. An alarm of fire followed and the entire building was in flames, which spread with great rapidity. The building of the Marietta Transfer and Storage company was soon ablaze, but it was saved. The Pattin shop was completely demolished. The explosion is a mystery. D. P. Pattin, one of the principal owners, smelled gas and remarked that he was going to find the leak. Taking some matches he entered the building. The explosion followed in about two minutes, and the supposition is that he lighted a match. He was killed. The loss is over $20,000.

Caught by the Cowcatcher.

Bowling Green, Ky., Oct. 21.—Philip Hay, a wealthy citizen, was killed by a freight train striking his buggy at a railroad crossing. In the buggy with him were his 18-months-old granddaughter, Lella Jenkins, with her colored nurse, Georgia Jenkins. When the train struck the buggy the cushion with the nurse and baby was caught in the cowcatcher, where the colored girl heroically held to the baby until the train ran 150 yards and was stopped. Both were found uninjured.

League Players Jump.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—It was officially announced that seven players of the Philadelphia National league baseball club will play with the American league next season. Delahanty, Wolverton, Orth and Townsend will play in Washington, and Flick, Dugleby and Monte Cross will play with Connie Mack's Philadelphia club. Two others, it is said, will be found with the American league, but it has not yet been determined with what clubs they will be connected.

England Grabs an Island.

London, Oct. 21.—"The British cruiser Pyralides, reports," says a dispatch from Sydney, "that she has annexed Ocean Island, west of the Gilbert islands. The island, which has hitherto been a British protectorate, is rich in phosphates."

Cleveland, Oct. 21.—Mrs. Mary Lowe stabbed her brother-in-law, T. B. Lowe, to death with a butcher knife. The crime was the outcome of a quarrel between the woman and Lowe.

The intense interest taken by the Republicans of Lima in the present state campaign is strikingly illustrated by the fact that just one ticket was sold over the Erie to the opening meeting of the state campaign at Delaware last Saturday.

Foraker and Hanna buried their animosity beneath the surface last Saturday and both appeared upon the same platform at the opening meeting at Delaware. But each had a long knife up his sleeve to be inserted beneath the political rib of the other whenever the favorable moment occurred.

THE ANARCHISTS' CREED.

We have been asked repeatedly to state what is the anarchistic doctrine or creed, which we have not done because we did not know, but we find in the London Times an essay on the subject which contains this summary of the belief that finds expression in the madness that strikes down all representatives of government:

They hold that there is no moral law, natural or revealed, and therefore, that every individual is entitled to be a law unto himself. Granting the premise, the conclusion seems irresistible. No majority of citizens, however large, can create a moral right. It can pass municipal laws, and, subject to certain limitations, those laws may bind in conscience men who believe that all civil power is of divine ordinance. But local and temporary majorities have often made or approved laws in flagrant contradiction with the most elementary conceptions of right; while the sacredness sometimes ascribed to natural law, as that law is deduced from the moral judgments of mankind, is a mere ubiquitous, depends on the view that it emanates from the universal conscience and that the voice of conscience is superhuman.

The anarchist rejects this view. He denies any supernatural government of the world, and, therefore, he denies, very consistently, the moral right of any power whatever to fetter his individual judgment or his individual will. All attempts to curb him in the free indulgence of his individual lusts and passions are in his eyes oppression. The fundamental laws on which society rests are to him tyrannical abuses by which the majority seek to limit the boundless license which is the birthright of every man born into this world. It is idle to tell him that those laws are supported by vast majorities. He answers that majorities, however vast, are mere synonyms for superior force, that he personally disapproves of the state of society which these laws have created and which they maintain, and that he has an innate right to assail that state by any means he chooses. His practical conclusion is appalling, but it seems to me to follow quite reasonably from his premises; and, as those premises are consciously or half-consciously held by thousands in all ranks of society, I fear that we are likely to hear more of him in the future.

This seems to resolve itself into "There is no God. There should be no religion, no law, no government, and the supreme duty of man is to rid the world of all these." "I'm an anarchist; I did my duty," was the only explanation given by the wretch who murdered President McKinley.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

How the Community of Railroad Interests Affects the Farmer.

When the community of interests plan among the railroads was agreed upon or what is known as the railroad trust organized, Robert Goodbody & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, remarked in the daily letter they sent out from their office in Wall Street:

"Surely this settlement ought to make investors feel that a large part of our railroads will not in future waste their resources in fights, but that their owners will reap the profits accruing from the steady growth of the country. Already they are making very large profits, and the present agreement seems to us to insure that nothing will interfere with them until the properties sell for more than they could be duplicated for. So far as we can make out this will not be until the granger roads sell for more than $70,000 per mile at least."

This of course means that the people are to be made to pay transportation charges on the basis of good round interest on the valuation made by the railroad trust of $70,000 a mile. The roads cost from $10,000 to $20,000 a mile. There is your doom awaiting you, Mr. Granger, rates to be increased about fourfold, part of which increase has already been put in force, and yet you vote for the trust party.

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR G. O. P.

People Are Tired of Paying Tariff Taxes to Benefit Trusts.

The tariff question is certainly becoming interesting and may wreck the Grand Old Party yet if its leaders do not listen to the voice of the people, who are sick of paying a tariff tax for the benefit of the trusts. One would never have expected that such a staunch Republican organ as the St. Paul Pioneer Press would gag at the tariff medicine its party has been compelling it to take, but it does, for it lately said, "To stubbornly oppose a revision of the tariff is to invite a political revolution." This is the second important protest from Minnesota, the Duluth chamber of commerce having demanded free trade with Canada but a few days before.

The people of the western states are just beginning to discover how the tariff is robbing them and banding the proceeds to the trusts. They can expect no relief from the Republican party. President Roosevelt would veto any tariff reform measure even if a Republican congress should pass it, and that is about impossible.

Our Diplomats.

Dealing in loot, several carloads of it, is the way one of our "matchless diplomats" has been spending his time in China. Diplomacy would seem to be next door to the "fence" business. Baiting and looting the Chinese have been a favorite amusement of all the countries for the past year or two.

Jingoes Are Happy.

The jingoes in congress and out of it have at last a president after their own heart. They were never satisfied with Mr. McKinley; his foreign policy was too tame for them. But perhaps Mr. Roosevelt will not be so strenuous now he is president.

Admiral Howison's Gall.

The gall of Admiral Howison in persisting in wishing to act as one of the court of inquiry so as to help his friend Sampson was so startling that Admiral Dewey and Benham refused to allow him to serve.

Rather Significant.

It is significant that all the great educators and professors of learning, the best thought of the country, feel called upon to criticize the administration for the new policy it is forcing on the country.

TWO GREAT CRIMES

And the Different Light in Which Different Men Regard Them.

BOTH ATROCIOUS AND WITHOUT JUSTIFICATION.

And Yet the Public Was Not a Unit in Both Instances, as It Should Have Been in the Face of Assassination.

Canton, Ohio, Oct. 7.—This seems to be a fitting and an appropriate time to advert to two matters that will make their impress upon the pages of contemporaneous history.

Within less than two years the chief magistrate of one of the great states of the Union and the chief magistrate of the Union itself have been foully assassinated in open daylight.

These two crimes are the foulest and the least justifiable of any that blacken as well as sicken the twilight of the nineteenth and the morning of the twentieth centuries in all Christendom.

The assassinated governor was William Goebel, a man in the prime of manhood, who by his own exertions had risen from the humble walks of life to be governor of Kentucky.

The assassinated president was William McKinley, full of honors and renowned at three score years, who also by his own exertions had risen from humble surroundings to the presidency of the republic.

Both passed through the fiery ordeal of political contests as the representatives of differing ideas of popular government, but agreeing as one to the fundamental principles of constitutional liberty and self-government.

Governor Goebel was a Democrat; President McKinley was a Republican. The right of each to hold his political belief was the highest right under the Declaration of Independence and the constitution. Neither deserved the tragic death which overtook him. The assassination of both was equally unjustifiable, and the assassins of neither should be permitted to contaminate any community with their presence.

The conspirators who plotted and the instrument who achieved the assassination of one, were and are as infamous criminals as those who plotted and consummated the assassination of the other. The difference in station makes no difference in the crime, whatever different men may hold to the contrary.

The danger lies in the possibility that this form of crime is, by some possibility, to continue and grow in this country. If any considerable number of men openly or tacitly justify the assassination of a governor from whom they differ politically, they deposit for incubation the ova which will hatch a new brood of vipers, ready to sting to death a governor or president of opposing politics.

It is with a sense of shame that it must be said that the assassination of Governor Goebel was either openly justified, covertly condoned or palliated and minimized by the newspaper press and the members of one political party. This was the gravest menace to our political institutions that ever rose above the horizon. It presaged evils too horrible to contemplate.

The how of promise across the black cloud of President McKinley's assassination was the universal outbreak of sentiment against both the crime and the criminal from the press and from the lips of men of all parties.

No one but the school of anarchy was left even to palliate the crime. The bitterest political opponents of the late president, without sacrificing their political beliefs, were among the most sincere and the most eloquent in denouncing the crime and the principle that prompted it.

Of all the Democratic papers and leaders who opposed the election of William McKinley in 1896 and 1900, not one sought to gloss over the crime or minimize its meaning and consequences.

We appeal to those governors and state officials who lately stood at the altar of the assassinated president, to ask themselves if they feel justified in their past course of shielding the conspirators of the Goebel assassination from the outraged law?

And we appeal to the Republican press and leaders of this city, and state, and the nation at large, to compare the two crimes, consider the spirit which prompted both, and note the difference of attitude and expression of the two political parties, and learn the lesson that they should have learned long ago, namely, that a Democrat, in the very nature of things, is as much a patriotic, law-abiding citizen as a Republican, taking the answer to all doubters from the record of the last two years.

THE COLD FIGURES.

Reported By the Tax Commission to President McKinley When Governor.

In 1893, when the late President McKinley was governor of Ohio, he appointed a tax commission to ascertain whether the tax burdens were unjustly distributed. On the 23d of December, 1893, the commission reported to him, and on pages 58 and 59 of their report used the following language:

"It is submitted from the facts which have been collected that investments in no other form, in Ohio, pay in taxes so small a proportion of the earnings, derived from the investments, as do the investments in railway corporations. While investments in improved real estate in Cleveland and elsewhere pay from 10 to 25 per cent of their gross rentals in taxes; while banks pay 20 per cent or more of their net income in taxes; while investment securities are taxed at the rate of 60 to 70 per cent of their income; while street railway companies, at least in Cleveland, pay 25 per cent of their net income in taxes, investments in railway property do not pay nearly so much proportionately. Few railways of the state pay as much as 10 per cent of their net earnings in taxes, while the great majority pay only from 6 to 8 per cent.

"To sum up the conclusions derived from these considerations: It is found that the railways of the state are assessed for taxation at $105,000,000, and the horses at $17,000,000; that the railways, so far as they can be identified, were assessed upon a higher valuation in 1878 than they are now; that they only pay from 6 to 10 per cent of their net earnings in taxes, while capital invested in other classes of property pays a much larger percentage of its earnings; if their appraised valuations be compared with their real values, as determined by capitalizing their net earnings, at 6 per cent, it is found that the appraised valuation is not more than 25 to 33 per cent of their real values. While it is true that land is appraised at less than its real value in various parts of the state, yet in no considerable section is the percentage of under-valuation nearly so low as this.

"The commission is forced to the irresistible conclusion that owners of railway property do not pay anything like the amount of the taxes which are paid by other people, either in proportion to the earnings received, or in proportion to the value of their properties. There seems to be constantly at work influences which pull down and keep down the appraised value of these properties."

Who Are Responsible?

The Republican newspapers have much to say against the presence of foreign anarchists in this country, who threaten the public peace from time to time, and who, if they did not conspire with the assassin of President McKinley, rejoiced in and praised the deed.

Nor can there be any reasonable objection to their present attitude toward this dangerous element. But for some unexplained reason these Republican organs endeavor to make it appear that the Democratic party ought to be held responsible for the assassin and his sympathizers.

But why? They do not explain. When did the Paterson group of anarchists, and the Chicago group, and the Cleveland group, and the Pittsburgh and the various other groups, come to the United States?

They began to arrive some twenty years ago.

Who brought them and under what circumstances were they introduced? They were brought under contract by the heads of several great corporations, which are now united into a few great trusts. These importers of foreign labor are among the foremost leaders of the Republican party and have absolutely dictated its policy for a decade.

These anarchists along with other undesirable persons who are not anarchists but are still undesirable as citizens were brought into this country for the purpose of "breaking the strike" of American workmen, the object being to have two men for each job and play them against each other for the purpose of breaking down organized labor and reducing wages.

This is the true and plain reason why these anarchist groups are in America. Workingmen themselves begin to understand this matter. It is hardly probable that they can be led to vote against the Democratic candidates as a rebuke to the anarchists, imported into this country by the Republican leaders to aid in breaking up the influence and efficiency of labor unions.

WALL STREET'S POWER

Vast Favors Shown Banks by the Government.

FORMATION OF A MONEY TRUST.

Financial Affairs of the Nation in Its Hands—Big Loans Made by National Government Without Interference—Millions Given to Favored Banks by Treasury Department.

One of the reasons given for the increase of capital of New York and other banks is the call for immense loans that under the national banking law cannot be made by banks with a small capital, though they may have an enormous reserve fund. The law allows only one-tenth of the capital of a bank to be loaned to any one person or corporation.

The consolidation of the great banks still continues. The First National Bank of New York has absorbed the National Bank of the Republic. The latter institution is one of the eleven or twelve largest banks in the New York Clearing House association.

This concentration of capital by the financial magnates foreshadows the formation of the much talked of money trust, which, in fact, has been already secured by the community of interest plan, somewhat similar in scope to the railroad combination.

The amount of money controlled by the consolidated bank mentioned above is equal to, if it does not exceed, the capital of the United States bank at the time of the veto of its recharter by President Jackson, when its capital was $85,000,000, of which the government owned $7,000,000.

The most dangerous features to the people of these vast consolidations of the money power is the reaching out into the interior of the country for the control of banks in the leading cities other than New York. The Rockefeller combination has already secured one of the principal banks in Cincinnati and Kansas City, and there may be many other banks controlled by them that have not come to light.

The power of the United States bank in shaping political matters in the time of President Jackson, though then considered enormous, was very trifling compared to the vast power that can be exercised today by the united money power of Wall Street. This was shown in the campaign of 1880, and since that time their power has largely increased through consolidation and the "community of interest plan."

That the financial affairs of the United States government is in their power will be not only seen by the vast loans that have been made to them and that they continue to enjoy without interest and the purchase by the government of bonds at the enormous premiums of 40 per cent to aid them in controlling the money and stock market and allowing them to retain the customs and internal revenue collections for an indefinite time, also without interest.

At the going rate of interest of from 4 to 6 per cent on call and time money it will be seen what a large gift the interest on these millions is to the favored banks. As long as these favors are shown by the Republicans to the money power the financial question is not settled by any means.

No Relief in Sight.

The shipping trust has its claim in to help exhaust the surplus funds in the treasury with a bill which will appropriate $180,000,000, or $20,000,000 a year. The brewing trust wants the tax reduced on beer, and the balance of the war tax should be taken off. There will be a river and harbor bill calling for millions. The Nicaragua canal will have to be provided for. How much it will cost is yet a question. Then every congressman expects at least one public building in his district, and there is a proposition to build a palace in each country where we have a representative. So we may expect the largest appropriations ever known and no relief from the present high taxes.

Banks Make Money.

Seven hundred and fifteen new national banks have been organized in the past eighteen months, with capital of $36,552,000. The people pay interest on the amount of bonds these banks hold, and, of course, if they want to borrow any of the bank notes that the government prints and gives to the banks up to the full amount of the bonds, interest is demanded at the going rate of the borrowers. Thus the banks get double interest on their capital, besides the use of their depositors' money. No wonder the large banks are paying such large dividends.

Under Martial Law.

One of the doctors who attended the late president, when asked about the deceptive bulletins, said, "We are under martial law and have to do as we are told," and the facts are that Secretary Root, who was in full control, had these bulletins issued in the interest of the Wall Street financiers, who were afraid if the whole truth about the condition of the president was known that a financial panic would be precipitated, which, with a little time, they hoped to avert. As it was, the banks had to call on the United States treasury for help.

Name Should Be Changed.

The New York Museum of Art will have to be rechristened and called the Loot exposition, since its managers have determined to accept the loot from China gathered by our enterprising Mr. Squires, whom we have been paying to look after the interests of Uncle Sam.

DEATH TO THE TRUSTS.

Free Trade Would Rob Them of Much of Their Profits.

The Protective Tariff league has taken a great deal of pleasure in trying to magnify the number and importance of trade combinations in free trade England, thus trying to show that it is not the protection given the trusts in the United States that is one of the main causes of their monopoly here, as in free trade England trusts are likewise numerous. Even this prop of the league has now tumbled down, for the few combines that have been formed in England have, with one exception, all failed or are practically bankrupt.

Commenting on this state of affairs, the Boston Transcript says: "The cause of this decline is not far to seek. In the first place, the free trade policy of the United Kingdom subjects these combines to the competition of the whole world, and now that overproduction in the textile industries is seriously threatened, even if it has not actually arrived, they can no longer maintain monopoly prices. Then many of the younger men associated with the private firms as junior partners or simply as salaried managers and servants have been sent east in the efforts of the combines to secure economy and have started business on their own account only, as a rule, in a moderate way, but with the most modern machinery and careful attention to every detail, which more than counterbalances any supposed cheapening of production on an immense scale, and their competition is already being keenly felt."

This shows that if our trusts are shown of the protection they enjoy under the present tariff many of them would find it impossible to maintain the enormous profits they are now making, for competition would compel them to sell as cheaply as the foreign product could be sold here. It is also possible that in some lines of production similar competition will start up, as in England, from those who have been let out of business when the trusts were organized and again give them a chance to earn a living at work they have been used to.

As the tariff is so high on most of those trust productions that it has been prohibitive in nearly every case, there will be no loss of revenue to the government, as there is none now paid, as the trusts are protected from competition by the 50 or 60 per cent or even higher duty that the custom house would demand.

PROGRAMME OF THE TRUSTS

In the Future Merchants Will No Longer Be Their Chief Clerks.

But few of the trusts have had time to thoroughly organize the business they have undertaken to handle. They control the manufacturing of their products, having a monopoly, and it will only be a short time and they will monopolize the selling, doing away with the jobber and even the retailer.

The Canada World-Herald interviewed some of the wholesale men of that city, and the outlook is summed up in these words by a hardware merchant: "The work of consolidation goes on, and the present policy of controlling the trade is pushed a little further. I will soon be simply a chief clerk, with no opportunity at all to display whatever business ability or lack of business ability I may possess."

Another one said: "Almost everything we handle is controlled by a trust. We must buy and sell at a certain price. The trusts control the routing and get rebates from the railroads. There is only one step further for them to go, and then we will be out of business entirely. That is for the trusts to do their own distributing, just as the Standard Oil company does, and there is no good reason why they should not establish branches at every important trade center and wipe out the independent jobber." After that they will go into the retail business, which entails more expense to keep up many stores than it does to keep up the few jobbers.

The Tax on Coal.

Have you bought your first ton of coal for winter use yet? If so, you have paid your $150 tax to the coal trust, for that is about the increase in the price since the trust was formed. The trust will collect the tax every month until warm weather comes again.

The trust collects this tax only in the United States, for the Portland (Me.) Press recently called attention to the advertisement of Lehigh coal in St. John, N. B., at from $5 to $5.35 after paying a duty of 60 cents a ton, while at Portland, Me., also at tidewater, and 300 miles nearer the coalfields, the price is $6.25.

Tariffs and Consumers.

If the tariff is taken off trust productions, it is even then possible that it may not be profitable to import foreign goods, as the ocean freight would of itself protect the American manufacturer enough to prevent competition from the foreigners, but the loss of 50 to 100 per cent protection that the tariff now gives would compel the trusts to sell their products at just a trifle less than the foreign goods could be imported for, so that on many articles of necessity there would be a very large reduction in price to the consumer here.

Accommodating Memories.

It is rather singular what an excellent memory some of the witnesses before the Schley court of inquiry have about what they want to tell and how forgetful they are about what they don't want to remember. When the witnesses for Admiral Schley come on the stand, there will be many matters that are now doubtful that will be cleared up.

Ella Green, through her attorney, F. E. Duffield, wants a divorce from L. H. Green, on the grounds of gross neglect and cruelty. They were married at Van Wert and two children, aged 16 and 14 are living. The petition alleges that the defendant refused to contribute the support he was able to give his family and at times he was brutal in his conduct. She charges that her husband assaulted and choked her, his temper being of such a nature as to attract the attention of the neighbors. She wants a divorce and possession of the household goods.

OIL EXCITEMENT REVIVED.

Old Pennsylvania Fields Again Worked Again.

Never in the history of the oil field, prominent in western Pennsylvania, have there been such excitement and activity as is now prevailing in Butler county, a great center several years ago, but until recently practically abandoned as a worked out territory, says a Petroleum dispatch. The cause is the discovery of a new oil bearing sand below the worked out sand. It has been found the Speckley sand and was found 2,900 feet deep, or 250 feet below the third sand. It opens the possibility of new operations in the district, and new oil fields are being opened in the old territory of oil developments.

The new sand gives a prospect superior to the regular Pennsylvania output. Some authorities think that the sand is a continuation of the Bradford and Titon strata. As a result the defunct oil metropolis of Kansas City is bustling with life, and Omaha and Butler are booming. The new territory covers all of the old Nebraska and Greece City fields, which have been abandoned for years.

The pioneers in the development of the Speckley sand were the South Pennsylvania Oil company, who drilled the first well on the J. S. Campbell farm, in Campbell Hollow. Since then 12 wells have been drilled, with a total production of about 80 barrels a day. The same company has a well being drilled, 4 rigs up and 4 buildings and 15 locations made. They expect to complete 80 wells this season. There are other prominent operators in the field and a host of optimistic small fry who have leased and bought about 10,000 acres.

United States Trade in Greece.

Consul McKinley writes from Athens in regard to the difficulty experienced in furnishing names of Greek importers of certain lines of goods. He receives numerous letters from the United States asking for this information, and some of them are followed by other communications saying that the importers were not financially sound, the result having been a loss to American export houses. There is no commercial agency in Athens that furnishes data on this subject, and the consul thinks that the only means by which our trade can be extended in Greece is by sending trustworthy men to attend to it. The McCormick Harvester company, for instance, has done so and is reaping large profits. British and German exporters have their representatives on the ground and, although giving long terms of credit, seldom lose through dishonest debtors, and their trade steadily increases.

Death of Operator Van Wormer

Quite a Shock

To Old Members of the Fraternity,

To Most of Whom the Unfortunate Veteran was Well Known.

An Important Oil Deal Reported from Bowling Green—A Good Strike Made Near Has-kins, Wood County.

Oil men throughout the city as well as in Northwestern Ohio were very much shocked to learn of the death of Charles Van Wormer who was killed by a railroad train near his home in St. Marys, Thursday, says the Findlay Republican. Mr. Wormer at one time was one of Findlay's most prominent oil men. While his home was in Bradford, Pa., he spent the greater part of his time in Findlay. He was largely interested in Hancock, Wood and other oil districts of Northwestern Ohio and in the Findlay field he was interested in a lease west of the city with Phiney Parker, another oldtime operator. Mr. Van Wormer came to Findlay about thirteen years ago and made his home here off and on for several years. He was a warm friend of Chas. Coburn, T. C. Kelly, John Black and a large number of other prominent operators.

The cause of death was due to Mr. Van Wormer's deafness, which prevented him from hearing the train. His son will be remembered in this city because of an accident he suffered about ten years ago. While the young man was driving a mucking the horse ran away and leaped through the large plate glass window of the Farmers' National bank.

A Sale at Bowling Green. A dispatch from Bowling Green says: The Cincinnati Oil Company sold out its oil interests here to local parties yesterday. This consists of leases covering 450 acres, 32 producing wells and a settled production of 25 barrels. The consideration is not given out. The Cincinnati Oil Co. was composed of the following stockholders: H. W. Morgenthaler of Cincinnati, W. H. MURKIN, T. W. Barnes, I. L. Hankey and F. W. Hankey of this city. The leases lie west of this city in Plain township.

Good Well Near Haskins. No. 2 well on the Parker farm near Haskins, is one of the finest producers in the Ohio field, says the Toledo Blade.

It came in Thursday night and started off at 30 barrels an hour. The well is owned by H. Sparks, of Toledo, and Messrs. Roach and Schroeder of Waterville.

R. G. Stitt visited the well yesterday and says it is still doing 20 barrels an hour.

Plenty of kerosene was at hand so that no oil was lost. While there have been some good wells struck in this territory, none has shown the large calibre of this one.

A Big Oil Lease.

A dispatch from Hopkinsville, Ky., says: The visit of prominent oil men to this city in the past few days has renewed the interest in oil discoveries and developments in this and adjoining counties. F. M. Ballinger, of St. Louis, president of the Wayne Oil Co., was here yesterday and went over the territory of the South Kentucky Oil company. After a thorough investigation of this he secured a lease on 25,000 acres, on which experts had found fine surface indications of oil. Mr. Ballinger returned to St. Louis last evening to make arrangements to commence drilling for oil at once. Other oil men were here looking over the oil fields of North Christian, among them T. M. Stegar, of Nashville, and T. T. Hillman, of Birmingham, Ala., who have large leases in this country, which they expect to begin developing at once.

Mrs. J. M. Frey will entertain at cards Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, progressive pedro being the game.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Collins will give a dancing party Friday evening at their home on west Market street, entertaining the young ladies assisting at Mrs. Collins' afternoon. Twenty young men have also received invitations for the affair.

At high noon yesterday a very pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. J. H. Deere, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. North, 325 Maple Lane. To the strains of the wedding march by Mrs. Fowler, the contracting parties, Mr. J. W. Isham and Miss Emma North attended by Mr. L. O. North, a brother of the bride and Miss Wical, his friend, slowly approached the altar where the solemn vows were said. After a short and impressive ceremony, the bride and groom followed by friends and relatives made their way to the dining room where an elaborate meal was spread.

Mr. Osham is a builder now employed at Lafayette but soon will return to Lima, where he and his new bride will be at home to their many friends. Will Bring Out Some of the Fast Ones

At the Matinee Races Tomorrow Afternoon.

Good Weather, Good Races and a Good Program Promised to Wind up the Present Season.

According to the weather report, tomorrow is scheduled to come in like the lamb and the Matinee club is hoping that it will go out the same way, as much depends on the attitude of the elements in making the last races of the season a success. With suitable weather and the kind of a drawing card that has been arranged for, there is sure to be a good crowd present and the season can be close in a blaze of glory. The classes have all been filled with the exception of the free-for-all and there is a splendid promise of some of Lima's fast ones being brought out during the afternoon.

BUMS

Were Chased by the Police And the Cells

Were Nearly All Occupied Last Night.

Police are Determined to Break Up the Camp on the South Side.

Country House Visited and Some Plunder Taken, Supposedly by the Same Gang Picked Up Yesterday.

The police broke up a gang of hobos in the south side yesterday, and in addition to picking up eight of the Coxey advocates, scattered at least a dozen more to the fore winds. Tramps have almost taken possession of that part of the city, but their acts of desperation have been confined to houses in the country that are within reach of the general rendezvous.

A complaint was made that a farm house about two miles from Lima, near where the Spencerville road crosses the C. & E., had been broken into and a suit of clothes and a shot gun stolen. Shortly after came the word that a gang of tramps were encamped south of town and yesterday chief Mills, accompanied by five officers swooped down upon them and picked up enough to reward them for their trouble.

The officers were given a nice chase, and in one or two instances the bums showed fight, but a flash of guns was all that was necessary to take the wings out of their feet and the nerve they had left accounted for little. At the station they gave their names as follows:

James Howard, Oscar Batten, John Ryan, James Price, John Thompson, Thos. Horn, Frank Wilson and Ed. Barry. After a night in the police station and a reminder that Lima was not big enough for them, they were escorted out of town.

Blind to Conditions.

Phillips and Minnie Corcor, husband and wife were brought in to the police station last night and held for safe keeping. Their only offense seems to have been a too free use of intoxicants and the lack of some better place than the lap of nature to lay their heads. The woman has been doing washing for various parties, working at times for the sheriff, and her husband has been working on the streets for the city and contractors. They were released without a hearing today.

A Little Too Much.

Jacob Miller, who got drunk and had some trouble with his wife, and Frank Valentine, were locked up on account of a too free indulgence in the cup that intoxicates.

C. A. HIATT

Underwent Another Operation Yesterday.

Charley Hiatt, the well known salesman employed at the Mammoth, is again confined to his home on east Market street, where, yesterday morning, he underwent another surgical operation. The operation is believed to have been very successfully performed and the patient withstood it remarkably well. He will, however, be confined to his home for a couple of weeks. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Among the applications for pardons filed by the board of the state penitentiary, Friday, was that of Ben Wade, well known by reason of his connection with the Foster gang prosecution cases. Wade is serving a sentence of eight months from Hardin county for horse stealing, and was also wanted here for the same offense. His application will be heard later.

BOUT

Between Young and Biz Mackey

Which was Merely a Battle for Points.

The Lima Lad Had Advantage of Weight But Mackey's Cleverness Showed Up to the Strongest.

Eddie Young has been over to Findlay and had another meeting with the well known and very much advertised Biz Mackey. Of the bout the Findlay Republican has the following to say:

Eddie Young, of Lima, and Biz Mackey, of this city, furnished great sport in their ten-round boxing contest before the Business Men's Athletic club at the Davis opera house. As had been agreed beforehand there was to be no decision and the spectators were left to judge the merits of the two men. Mackey plainly showed himself to better advantage in all phases of the boxing game. He was quicker on his feet and planted his leads with more decision and greater frequency.

Young, on the other hand, is no novice. His long reach and height were used to all possible advantage and he was able to ward off many a blow by means of his superior reach.

A marked difference was apparent in the two men. Mackey seemed compactly built and was at least five inches shorter than his opponent. Young is very well muscled and had the long end of the weight question. One of the features of the affair was the wonderful ducking of both contestants. Mackey seemed to be very unfortunate in his work at various stages of the contest for Young avoided a multitude of blows by his shifty footwork.

One of the best exhibitions of clever boxing occurred in the last round. At the call of time Mackey got down to business and landed five or six successive lefts nearly on Young's face. The two boxers seemed to be on the best of terms last night. In a former exhibition both became angry and the affair had to be stopped for fear of the bout's developing into a genuine scrap. In his work last night Mackey gave ample evidence that he still retains all the cunning he ever possessed. In addition to this he has acquired a great deal of strength and confidence which is a great help to him in his ring work.

STEP

Higher in the Railroad World

He Will Ascend

E. R. Bissell Tenders a Resignation

That Will Become Effective Within the Next Few Weeks Time.

Will Take Service With One of the Gould System Lines With Headquarters at Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

Lima is soon to lose another of its most popular railroad men. Within the next few days general yard master Ernest R. Bissell, who has been in the service of the L. E. & W. road for many years, will sever his connection with the road and will leave for the west to accept a new position that will advance him another notch upon the ladder of the railroad world. Mr. Bissell tendered his resignation from the position of general yard master nearly a month ago, the resignation to become effective as soon as his successor could be secured, and although the new man has not yet been formally appointed he has been selected and it is probable that Mr. Bissell will leave Lima not later than the first of November.

Mr. Bissell has been in the service of the L. E. & W. for many years, serving in the capacity of telegrapher, dispatcher, chief dispatcher and general yard master and in each capacity he has made an excellent record for himself, serving under the regime of both the Brice and Vanderbilt officials. A few weeks ago he received a very good offer from a road in California and he decided to accept it but since he has been waiting to be relieved from his present duties he has received another offer from the general superintendent of the St. Louis & Southwestern, the "Cotton Belt" road, and it is now quite probable that he will accept the latter offer. S. R. Kramer, who was for several years a division superintendent on the L. E. & W., is now in the service of the St. Louis & Southwestern and it was through his recommendation to the general superintendent that Mr. Bissell was tendered the offer from the latter official. It is not yet known what capacity he will enter into the service of the new company in but as his prospective salary has been quoted with the offer of a position it is assumed that he will also advance in the ranks of the railroad officials. Mr. Bissell is an excellent gent.

A thorough railroad man and although his friends are sorry that he is to leave Lima, all rejoice in his merited advancement. His successor is to be Fred DeGrief, who is now chief clerk under master mechanic Wm. White, of the L. E. & W. Mr. DeGrief is also a popular railroad man and will make an excellent general yard master. Mr. Bissell's new headquarters will be at Pine Bluff, Ark.

Conductor George Ritter, who was promoted to the position made vacant by the resignation of conductor Seymour Evans, takes his train out for the first time tomorrow morning. Mr. Ritter is moving his goods and chattels today from North Baltimore, where he has made his home for a long time, and will occupy a house on west High street.

Another move effected by the change is the placing of conductor Tom Durbin in charge of Ritter's old run, and Tommy is packing up his household goods at Toledo with the intention of making his permanent home at North Baltimore.

Other lifts follow in the wake of those named. Conductor Wise, who has been on the long run freight, is now 1st extra passenger conductor, and will take the short freight run during the time he is not wearing the blue uniform. Fred Snyder who was an extra conductor gets a regular car.

A change of time effecting several trains, has gone into effect on the C. H. & D. The Toledo accommodation which formerly left here at 2:10 in the afternoon, now leaves at 5:30 a. m. The Sunday accommodation has been discontinued. Train No. 2, known as the paper train, leaves three quarters of an hour later than formerly, the time of departure now being 8:00 a. m. South bound No. 1 leaves twenty-five minutes earlier, the time being changed from 9:20 to 8:55.

Leo Stone Injured.
Leo P. Stone, formerly a well known brakeman on the L. E. & W., and a brother of passenger conductor C. W. Stone, of the Detroit Southern, was injured in an accident that befel him at Leipsic a few days ago. He was employed as a brakeman on the Nickel Plate railroad and was knocked off the top of a box car at Leipsic. He struck a water tank in his fall and was severely injured. He is now at the home of his parents in Fostoria.

Wrecks at Adrian.

The Detroit Southern had two wrecks at Adrian, that latter part of last week. An extra, south bound, had three cars derailed at water works curve on account of a broken flange and following this accident there was a "tail-end" smash up in which five or six cars in first 27 were wrecked by engineer Handy's engine pulling the second section of No. 17. A flagman was out to signal second 27 but was not far enough back.

Frank Paulis Advanced.

Frank Paulis, who for some time has been employed in the L. E. & W. coach painting and finishing department, where his brother, George Paulis, is foreman, has been appointed foreman of the coach painting department at the Lake Shore shops in Elkhart, Ind.

Lima Boys On the D. S.

The old friends of Frank, or who may be better known as "Tug" Wilson, formerly a switchman in the L. E. & W. yards, will be pleased to learn that he has been promoted to a conductor on the Lima-Detroit division of the Detroit Southern. He has been in charge of a local freight run between this city and Tecumseh for two or three weeks.

George Vanatta, another former L. E. & W. boy, who has many friends, has also been promoted on the north end of the Detroit Southern. He is now a full fledged "eagle eye" and is one of the most popular and efficient men on the road.

General Notes.

Engineer Will Enoch, of the Clover Leaf, is here visiting his numerous friends.

Hunters will be pleased to know that the party rates method of selling tickets has been abolished and hereafter tickets will be sold to individuals at as low rate per passenger as was formerly made to hunters traveling in a party.

President L. E. Loree, of the Baltimore and Ohio, recommends the erection of big shops at Pittsburg and the building of all cars for that road in them. It is believed that his recommendation will meet with approval.

The Pennsylvania passenger station in Upper Sandusky will be transferred today from the heart of town to the C. H. V. & T. junction, one-half mile west. Both roads will hereafter use the same station house. The change will be a convenience for junction passengers, but a nuisance to people who travel to and from the town proper. How would you like to be the hack man will be appropriate in the Indian village in the future.

Dan McSweeney, fireman on the Bellefontaine-Brightwood division of the Big Four, spent Sunday with relatives here.

The machinery at the L. E. & W. shops was shut down for some time Saturday on account of the stationary engine being in need of repairs.

Fireman C. S. Peltier, of the L. E. & W., who has been seriously ill, suffering from neuralgia of the stomach, is improving steadily.

Work continues to be very heavy in the L. E. & W. shops. The men in most of the departments are now working 15 hours per day and there are no longer Saturday half holidays.

C. H. & D. Notes.

Extra passenger conductor, Bert Smith, who was on conductor Seymour Evans' old run during the latter's long vacation, and up to the time of his retirement, has gone to Chicago to make a visit prior to returning to his former position on long freight.

Dispatcher George Reel, accompanied by his wife, spent Sunday at their old home in Wapakoneta.

The C. H. & D. fall schedule went into effect yesterday.

"ARE YOU A MASON?" TONIGHT.

In yesterday's Chicago Inter-Ocean, their London correspondent, commenting on American theatricals in the British Metropolitan, said: "At the Shaftesbury theatre, where the 'Belle of New York' ran so long, another American success has come, and come to stay. The piece was noticed in America by Paul Arthur who introduced it in London. Every one was dubious but it caught on like wildfire, and is running to packed houses. Although the company is good, it is said not to be up to the standard of the American interpreters, yet it is estimated that 'Are You a Mason?' is good to run in London at least two years."

It is not often that Lima theatre goers have an opportunity like that of tonight. As a rule we do not get the big hits like "Are You a Mason?" until several seasons after their first success.

Residences of R. E. Ogden and Peter Weller Damaged by Flames Saturday Evening.

Late Saturday afternoon the fire departments from the central and north side stations were called out by an alarm from box 16. A small blaze at the residence of Peter Weller at 678 north Elizabeth street, occasioned the alarm and caused slight damage to the property. Less than an hour later an alarm from box 41 called the central and south side departments to the home and wall paper establishment of R. E. Ogden on south Central avenue, where a more serious blaze was encountered. The fire had started in the wall paper store at the rear of the residence and had gained such headway that, when the department arrived, the property seemed threatened with destruction. The fire was headed off after a hard fight however and the loss of nearly $300 is covered by insurance.

MUCH ELATED

Because Bobby Ewing Found the Cincinnati Reds.

A dispatch from Wapakoneta says: "Bobbie" Ewing's friends in Auglaize county and Northwestern Ohio are more than pleased to hear that he has enlisted for service with the Cincinnati Reds. Ewing is six feet three inches tall, and hence the title of "Long Bob" that he has acquired in the West is by no means misleading. He is both by nature and training a pitcher, and, strange to say, a young man of exemplary habits. Ewing's home is at New Hampshire, a village east of here, but he acquired his early base ball training in this city. During the winter he spends part of his time there and part in this city with his horses and dogs, hunting and fishing.

He started his base ball career with the Wapakoneta Reds, and in 1897 and 1898 was on the pitching staff of the famous "Wapak Indians," who succeeded the Reds, helping the latter to win the pennant in the Northwestern Ohio League in that year. From here he went to Toledo, winning two thirds of the games he played with them in the Interstate League. While with Kansas City, the pennant winners in the Western League, he won 26 and tied 1 game out of a total of 33 played. This town has always rooted and pulled for the Cincinnati Reds, whether they were up or down, and now that they have a representative on the team the Wapak base ball enthusiasts will be more enthusiasts than ever.
